

Better or bitter life? Victors or victims?

Are you among those who feel they are victims and success and happiness is elusive or illusion to you?

Four most important points to be aware when you are victim and not happy...

Are you responsible for your own choices, thoughts and actions?
Or are you dependent on others?

Are you been able to touch your inner authenticity and be the same or are you twisting the authenticity to be at their clutch?

Are you been able to accept you and others the way they are?
Or are you always finding the difference that divides you and spoils your mind with negativity?

Are you been able to drop the judgemental filters, critical filters and expectation lenses which is keeping you away from success and happiness?

With Love and Light,
