The LORD GANESHA festival...symbol of love, wisdom and action....

Lord Ganesha, Lord Vinayaka, Lord Vighneshwara the most popular elephant God, is worshipped as the first deity at the start of any pooja, ceremony, any vow or pilgrimage. The looks of like elephant, proverbially the most intelligent among the mammals, vegetarian animal, satvic by nature, symbol of might and magnitude, making his way through the densest jungle, opening the trail for all others to follow. His foot is larger than any other animal and can erase the footprints of others.

The lord Ganesha is a symbol of true path finder and path maker, a true leader, a true scholar, a true knowledge, intellect and wisdom to your transient life, a life of happiness free from difficulties and obstacles, allowing our intellect and wisdom to grow at every obstacle,s finding solutions and courage to implement the actions whenever necessary.

Ganesha's large head represents great wisdom. His broken tusk represents the sacrifice necessary for learning and the pursuit of wisdom. Holding the Goad he prods humanity towards enlightenment.. with his ax h cuts off the bonds of attachment. With his upraised hand, he symbolizes protection to his devotees. The trident represents the three powers of love, wisdom and action. The bowl of fruit suggests abundance and prosperity. His large ears represent the listening and attentiveness. His trunk represents discrimination and the ability to discern the difference between good and evil. The snake represents the rising kundalini, the life force within each one of us. The conch shell symbolizes the call to come and pray.. the padma lotus is a symbol of the spirit to the greater heights. The big stomach talks about all known and unknown universes and wisdom to understand and digest the secrets of the world. The modaka represents the rewards of sadhana, which is moksha and liberation. The pineapple represents the giving and sharing. The mango represents the highest fruition of the spirit. The coconut represents the ego and different masks, which we make it as our hard and tough exterior, which needs to be cracked to see the soft and tender part of ours inside. The mouse represents the desire and ability to reach into each and every cranny of the mind.

Let us look at the karmic laws, what you give to the world, you get the same in return.. what you sow, you shall reap... all the obstacles and challenges are the fruits of our karma... we call upon Lord ganesha to remove all the obstacles and challenges.. hope the law of karma is understood to all.. let's think good for everyone and lets look at positive qualities of every one... let's understand the true wisdom and true love's meanings.. let's be courageous enough and powerful enough to understand the appropriate actions for our meaningful life, unity, friendship, love, peace and harmony among all....
